

Available via EBSCOhost®

Expert commentary and analysis of complex situations for a greater understanding of global events

World Politics Review® is an online publication and resource for foreign policy professionals working primarily within government, military, academia, intelligence and diplomacy, as well as academic researchers with a serious interest in international relations, foreign affairs, world politics and geostrategy. Updated daily, this resource publishes international affairs analysis that provides in-depth background material on global issues that are not deeply covered by mainstream media sources.

■ Original Content from an Expert Editorial Team

World Politics Review includes nearly 9,000 articles, and produces more than 75,000 words of original content per month. Its original articles are written by a network of more than 400 contributors from around the world, including subject-matter experts from journalism, research organizations, academia, government and elsewhere.

■ Streamlined Review Process

World Politics Review is updated daily for today's fast-moving world. Its editors follow a rigorous review process that validates content before publication, but results in short lead times from submission to publication, so articles are extremely timely. Content is updated daily and the EBSCO database version reflects new content within days.

Additional proprietary content includes editorials, opinion pieces, interviews and proceedings.

World Politics Review

includes nearly 9,000
articles and produces more than 75,000
words of original content per month

contains original articles written by a network of more than 400
contributors from around the world

■ Covering Key Topics of Global Concern

World Politics Review covers topics of key relevance to foreign policy, international politics and foreign affairs, including:

- Aid and Development
- Crime
- Culture
- Defense and Military
- Domestic Politics
- Economics and Business
- Homeland Security
- Human Rights
- International Law
- Political Theory
- Public Diplomacy and Propaganda
- Terrorism
- U.S. Foreign Policy
- War and Conflict
- Weapons of Mass Destruction
- And many more...

Content is fully linked to other full-text resources from EBSCO, enabling users to easily access the relevant analysis and match it to other full-text commentary and information.

■ Excellent Complement to Current Products

While viable on its own, World Politics Review also complements other EBSCO databases, such as International Security & Counter-Terrorism Reference Center™, Political Science Complete™, Points of View Reference Center™, International Political Science Abstracts and more.

■ Unbiased Analysis

Contributing authors to World Politics Review are subject matter experts and on-the-ground influencers from all around the world, without political or geographical leanings. Their primary loyalty is to the truth.

■ Supplemental Web Access

In addition to access on EBSCOhost, subscribers will have full access to content on the World Politics Review website (www.worldpoliticsreview.com).

Web content includes:

- Personalized sub-accounts for individual members ("power users") of the institution
- Options for individual users to sign up for specific services, including e-mail newsletters, user preferences, etc.
- Optimized user interface for daily reading
- Additional aggregated content not found via EBSCOhost

■ Favorably Reviewed

World Politics Review was recommended by CHOICE magazine and was an honoree in the 2016 Webby Awards for "Best Political Blog/Website."