Conclusions

1. The Natural Sciences block lacks only 12% of necessary informational resources.
2. The block of Humanities lacks 33% of necessary resources.
3. The availability of resources is grown up in comparison to the similar research of the 2011(there were 23 studio programs).

What will be the next ?

The Aim - system where the descriptions of the studio courses include the only those primary information resources which are included into the library's stock.

The stages of our activities:

1. The detailed methodology was worked out.
2. The research results were given to the heads of programs.
3. The pilot project will be started at one of the faculties in autumn.
4. The necessary informational resources will be added in the stock.
5. UL Library sends information about new obtained issues to the academic staff once a month.
